

Insure your warranty risk

In a unique partnership with the world's largest reinsurer MunichRe, we now provide insurance for OEM and suppliers' warranty reserves.

Get certainty on your warranty reserves

Our Insurance service guarantees any costs that exceed the accrual level will be covered

Release more capital for your business

Most manufacturing companies will accrue between 1-3% of revenue to cover warranty costs. Industry-wide analysis has revealed that companies are more likely to over-accrue to avoid nasty shocks in the future. Many companies we've spoken to have a scary story from the last ten years where they under-accrued making them more likely to be more conservative in reserve setting.

Our reinsurance product is designed to remove that risk, reduce accruals and free up capital for your business.

With the accuracy of our forecasting of product failures, you can now calculate accruals with more confidence since any costs that exceed the limit will be covered.

Leaders in predictive analytics

We help companies make more of their data.

How? By using unique predictive analytics solutions to provide simple answers to complex questions.

Our solutions are built up of modules within Indico, our predictive analytics platform, putting you in control.

Each module can stand alone or form part of a more comprehensive solution, allowing your analytics capability to evolve alongside your needs whilst remaining cost-effective.

Our computer and data scientists work closely with our domain experts to develop solutions that provide clear, insightful results which you can use to benefit your business.
